Aanmerking. Het bijwoord wel kan in het Nederduitsch nog voorkomen in de beteekenis van een bevestiging of wel als een zoogenaamd stopwoord. In het eerste geval gebruikt men in het Engelsch, al naar den zin, een woord, dat nagenoeg hetzelfde uitdrukt: - twintig, more than twenty; ik zie -, I clearly see; ik heb het - gedacht, I thought so indeed; het kan - zijn, it may be; ik heb hem - geslagen, maar, indeed I struck him, but; heb ik het -? do I understand you right, am I in the right? Waar het, als stopwoord voorkomende, zonder nadeel voor den zin kan wegblijven, wordt het in het Engelsch niet vertaald: ja -, yes; dat heb ik - meer gehoord, I heard so formerly; van daag niet, - morgen, not to-day, but to-morrow; -, tw., well! -, (nu!) well! now! -, wat is hier? well, why, what is the matter? -, (als iemand iets gezegd heeft) - en? now and? Ook als tusschenwerpsel wordt het niet vertaald, wanneer het slechts als stopwoord voorkomt: - kind, wat zijt gij mooi! child, how fine you are! -, wie zou dat gedacht hebben! who would have thought so!
Welaan, tw., come! pray! now! well! cheer up!
